

MOVIE TALK CARDS

The Dark Tower (rated PG-13)

Movies.com...

Life is boring without contemplating life, and movies are boring without contemplating movies.

Use as discussion starters with your family or neighbors.

- How has your relationship with your birth father or other “fathers” shaped your identity?
- If it has negatively impacted your identity, where will you/how do you find a new identity?
- Whose “face” do you look to for inspiration?
- Who could God be calling you to remind them of His face?

(the message for related to this movie will be available online at www.theBeacon.church on the Tuesday following the service.)

MOVIE TALK CARDS

The Dark Tower (rated PG-13)

Movies.com...

Life is boring without contemplating life, and movies are boring without contemplating movies.

Use as discussion starters with your family or neighbors.

- How has your relationship with your birth father or other “fathers” shaped your identity?
- If it has negatively impacted your identity, where will you/how do you find a new identity?
- Whose “face” do you look to for inspiration?
- Who could God be calling you to remind them of His face

(the message for related to this movie will be available online at www.theBeacon.church on the Tuesday following the service.)