Dan Asche

People who serve Christ and His church with longevity, honor, character and integrity are valued servants of Christ. I know over the years our church family @ Community has had a number of people who fit that image. How blessed we are as a church to have been served by some very tenderhearted saints of God.

Recently, I had a conversation with Paul Morford about his beginning to train up a few other men to do the things he has done so well for a good number of years. Paul, if you are new to our church, has been our Campus Ministry Leader which is, as the name suggests, the maintenance of our facility. Only the Lord knows how many times we have called Paul about a leaking faucet or a sump pump that is making a strange noise. Paul, in my 8+ years, has been so quick to come to our rescue. When you see Paul would you thank him for all the times he has dropped something to come "help" us out. Wanda, we so appreciate you sharing Paul with us. Some of you may remember that Wanda led in our Middler Department for quite a number of years. What a wonderful couple who love Jesus and His Church. BTW – Paul is not retiring just yet. He is just beginning to train up another set of leaders to replace himself. Which is what every leader needs to do.

Another wonderful couple is Ken & Jeanne Day. They have led our Compassion Ministry for the past 14 years. I have walked through our building on who knows how many occasions and there are the Days going through the facility with a couple they have helped. It is their custom to take the time to give a tour of the building, so if the family comes as their guests they will know where our children's area is located or know where to find a cup of coffee or a bagel, as well. They have been so faithful to always pray for those they have helped. Many times it is Ken who gives the tour while Jeanne sits and talks with children. I know Ken has recently had some health issues but we praise the Lord for their faithfulness to Christ and His Church. Jeanne, like Wanda Morford, taught in our Bible School leading the 2nd grade class for many years.

We praise God for allowing tender hearted, faithful, and loyal people to serve with us here at Community.
