Missions Spotlight

Today we are highlighting John, Korie, Ellia and Alyssa Taylor, Missionaries to Indonesia. One of the highlights of this year, the Indonesian government enforced a law requiring all Indonesian children to take religion as a class at school. With a license to teach from the State of Washington and a license to preach from the Assemblies of God, Korie was in the right place at the right time to become the 5th grade teacher and teacher of Christian religion at a secular elementary school. One of the other highlights is providing Fire Bibles to Pastors, Bible School Students and people who make first time commitments to Jesus Christ. Recently, a girl sat in our home and gave her heart to Jesus, and began shaking as she read what she said were "true words of God," for the very first time. We just started supporting the Taylors. Praise God!
