Kara Cusic, newly appointed missionary to be here October 16th

God has opened many ministry doors in Buryatia, a region of Siberia that is interrelated with Mongolia. Kara is working with a national team to train youth and leaders to reach both inside and outside the borders of Russia, helping them to become tools for effective soul-winning and church planting throughout Russia-Siberia and beyond. Kara will be sharing during Adult Sunday School and the first part of Kid's Life.

Missions Spotlight

The following is from the Taylor's in Indonesia... "When we first moved to Indonesia, American friends often asked us, "Are you safe there?" When our babies were born in America, some even asked, "Are you taking your kids with you?" Upon arrival in Indonesia in 2004, horrible images of the Twin Towers were still freshly engraved in our minds, so it felt like a slap in the face when we occasionally saw Indonesians proudly wear shirts displaying pictures of Osama Bin Laden. But God called us to Love the people. Muslim people became our friends, even "seperti saudara," like family. As the frequency of terrorism has increased through the years, Americans have stopped asking us, "Are you safe there?" Terrorism isn't just overseas anymore. It is a painful reminder of that reality, since the perpetrator of the Cascade Mall shooting in Washington State was captured in our parents' hometown. Our hearts ache once again. We deeply hurt for families of innocent victims whose lives were prematurely taken in this awful shooting. Our hearts also grieve because the shooter descended from yet another Muslim country. Our hearts still break for lost Muslim people. Living in the most populous Muslim nation for more than a decade, we have come to believe three simple things: 1. Muslim people are not our enemy; 2. Satan is our enemy; 3. Jesus is our only hope. At our children's school, the majority of the staff are Muslim people. After the attacks in France, one of these Muslim friends came with tears in her eyes and asked, "Why is it always us." Muslim friends respect us as people who practice authentic faith, even though they know our faith is in Jesus Christ. Questions such as these as well as deep faith conversations occur naturally as a result of ongoing friendships and genuine love for our neighbors. It is also through authentic relationships with Muslim people that miracles happen. Our little girl invited her teacher to church saying, "Do you want to come hear my Dad speak?" Her teacher came along with his Muslim girlfriend. She wept throughout the service and said, "I have gone to mosque all my life, but I have never felt God before." When we hosted this couple for a meal in our home, we gave them a Bible. As she began reading at our table, she wept once again, hugged the Indonesian Bible close to her heart and said, "This is the first time I have ever read the true words of God." This couple gave their hearts to Christ and they were baptized this Easter. Muslim people are no longer just our neighbors: they are now your neighbors. Whether we like it or not, lost Muslim people, many of whom come from unreachable places are now neighbors of the American Church. Tragedies in the Western world have resulted in indescribable pain and have risen to fear. Yet, it is Christ's love that compels us to move beyond this fear and genuinely love our neighbors, including Muslim people. Our prayer for you in America is from Acts 4:29-30. Five times each day, faithful Muslim people actively seek something you possess; A genuine relationship with the one, true, living God. May your love for Christ and your love for people testify to His reality today."
