

The Immortal Life of Henrietta Lacks,
by Rebecca Skloot
www.broadwaybooks.com

Submitted by John Wilson, III, First Christian Methodist Evangelistic Church, Dallas, TX

The life of Henrietta Lacks lets us know that often times our ministry can have a greater impact and touch more lives after we have died than when we were alive. This is her life story. In her death and by God's grace she has saved countless of lives and will continue to do so until Jesus comes. We owe all of our cancer research, cures, and treatments to this African American woman born in the 20's.

Also, her life story as well as her descendants is a sober reminder how difficult it was and still is for many blacks in the south. Some of it due to our external circumstances and some of due to the decisions we make.

Listen to it in audio format.